

Copyright Notice

For the purposes of this notice, "Intellectual Property" means whatever trademarks (whether registered or not), inventions, patents (both registered and unregistered), copyrights, registered and unregistered designs, know-how and other intellectual property vesting in iBound, including any branding or logos and any content contained on the iBound website.

Nothing contained on this website shall be construed to confer or be deemed to confer on any party any rights or licenses in the intellectual property of iBound.

Any copyright, trademarks, patents, designs, logos, branding, website content or other intellectual property rights which may be developed by iBound and displayed on this website now or in the future shall remain the property of iBound.

Any party desirous of making use of iBound logos, branding or website content shall only be able to do so with the express, prior written consent of iBound that they may do so. The granting of the use of iBound logos, branding or website content shall in any event be at iBound's sole instance and discretion.